

Nick Matus
Senior Vice President
Bank of America

Nick Matus is a Senior Vice President and Senior Relationship Manager within Bank of America's Commercial Real Estate Bank. His primary function is to manage Bank of America's partnerships with real estate owners, operators, developers, and property managers in the Southeast, specifically those headquartered in North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky. These clients utilize the full suite of BofA's traditional and customized financial products.

Nick uses his analytical skills and knowledge of credit policies, operations, products, and services to lead the client management team in providing access to Bank of America's network of solutions. Nick is also charged with representing the Commercial Real Estate Bank both internally and externally in the communities in which he serves.

Nick graduated magna cum laude from Appalachian State University with a B.S.B.A. in Finance and Banking. His professional career began as a Financial Advisor for high net worth individuals at UBS before joining Bank of America. Nick spent 4 years in Bank of America's CFO group followed by 2 years as a Commercial Associate supporting the Commercial Real Estate Bank's Northeast, Mid-Atlantic, and Southeast markets before becoming a Relationship Manager in his home market.

Nick is a passionate Carolina Panthers, Carolina Tar Heels, and Appalachian State Mountaineers fan and an avid outdoorsman with interest in backpacking, mountain and road biking, golf and fly fishing.
